JUST ECOLOGY's West of England office is situated on the Southern edge of the Cotswold escarpment, easily accessible from both the M5 (junction 14) and the M4 (junction 18)

By Train

There are a number of options for getting to us by train. The nearest mainline stations are Bristol Parkway and Gloucester.

Directions from the West or North West

M5

Leave at junction 14

Follow the signs to Tortworth, Charfield and Wotton-Under-Edge on the B4509. Continue up the hill for 1.2 miles.

Turn first right and continue for approx. 0.6 miles.

Take the second turning on the left into Woodend (not sign posted)

Continue for approx. 0.4 miles. The entrance to Woodend House is on the righthand side - A large cream house with a horse chestnut tree at the gateway - take the turn through the wooden gateway and across the front of the property into the car park at the side/rear of the property.

The main entrance to the Office is through the porch at the front of the property.

Direction from the East

M4

Leave at junction 18

Take the A46 and head North

After approx 3 miles take the left hand turn at the traffic lights

Travel towards Chipping Sodbury and Yate

At the roundabout take the last exit and drive around the outskirts of Chipping Sodbury

At the roundabout take the last exit and head towards Wickwar.

Drive through the village of Wickwar, immediately after the traffic lights turn left and drive towards Charfield

Follow this road for approx 2 miles, at the end turn left towards Cromhall

As you go down turn right into what looks like a layby, then turn right again into Woodend (not sign posted)

Woodend House is the second house on your left (after about .5 miles) - A large cream house with a horse chestnut tree at the gateway - take the turn through the wooden gateway and across the front of the property into the car park at the side/rear of the property.

The main entrance to the Office is through the porch at the front of the property.
